

Client Relationship Summary (CRS)
January 2026

Introduction

Monness, Crespi, Hardt & Co., Inc. (“MCH”) is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) as a broker-dealer and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (“FINRA”) and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (“SIPC”). Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ. It is important for you to understand these differences. Free and simple tools are available to perform research on firms and financial professionals on the SEC’s investment education website (Investor.gov/CRS), which provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers and investing.

Relationships and Services

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

MCH is an institutional equity research and trading broker dealer established in 1964. The firm clears through RBC Clearing & Custody www.rbcclearingandcustody.com on a fully disclosed basis. MCH acts as agent on every trade unless otherwise indicated. MCH cultivates an institutional client base, which includes money management firms, mutual funds, hedge funds, banks and insurance companies. MCH can execute all orders regardless of the security, size, liquidity, or exchange. MCH has some retail accounts that consist primarily of its employee accounts and accounts of super high net worth and accredited investors. MCH’s research covers a limited number of public companies. We do not manage portfolios or make retail recommendations. MCH does not recommend high-risk investment strategies. We provide fundamental research. This fundamental research is suitable for all our customers and is available to all our customers and certain potential customers. The research contains an analyst’s recommendation of a Buy or a Sell. However, MCH does not specifically solicit transactions in the companies covered as an explicit buy or sell for any particular customer’s portfolio nor does the firm or any of its employees provide advice or act at in an investment advisory capacity relative to the general buy or sell research report. Each customer decides how best to utilize our research and how to invest or trade their own assets. We do not have discretionary accounts or propriety products. We do not have account minimums and do not make decisions on behalf of any customer. While we remain available to assist you after placing a securities transaction, MCH does not provide ongoing account monitoring of a customer’s portfolio for advisory purposes.

Given my financial situation, should I choose a brokerage service and/or account? Why or why not? What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?

MCH has an extremely experienced trading department with multiple college educated, FINRA registered traders and provides incredible individualized customer service. Our highly educated FINRA registered equity research department seeks to identify undervalued or under-covered investment opportunities regardless of size. Key investment drivers for smaller capitalized companies include strong management, sustainable operations growth, and highly predictable future earnings and cash flow. Among the larger, more mature companies, the firm attempts to identify an investment entry point when there appears to be a misperception in the marketplace, either in terms of a specific product or unrecognized industry opportunity. MCH occasionally hosts Corporate Access events which provide its customers with the opportunity for direct dialogue with corporate management teams and thought leaders across industries. The firm hosts Idea Dinners focused on creating a unique forum for experienced Institutional Investors to share ideas and information on market, sector, and company specific topics. In some cases, firm provides its Institutional customers with detailed notes of the ideas, in the form of third-party research, of presentations made at formal idea dinner events. Retail clients do not receive portfolio/stock recommendations from MCH employees.

Fees, Costs, Conflicts, and Standard of Conduct

What fees will I pay?

We are an agency broker dealer that charges a transaction-based fee, generally referred to as a commission, every time you buy or sell an investment. If you open a brokerage account, you will not be charged until you buy or sell a security or ETF. The firm immediately directs all orders to the appropriate exchange and continuously communicates the trade status to the customer. Certain market centers, such as many exchanges, provide rebates or charge fees based upon whether routed orders contribute liquidity to, or extract liquidity from the market center. The amounts of such fees and rebates vary and rebates may or may not exceed the fees paid by the firm to a market center during any given period. The credits and debits have no impact on nor do they change the cents per share transaction commission negotiated and charged to you. Please see Clearing fees at the fee link on <https://www.mchny.com>. Our Clearing firm offers a money market sweep for customers who choose it. Monthly RBC credits our firm with a very small revenue share of the fee RBC receives. It is not in addition to RBC's fee disclosed in the prospectus and is not a Monness, Crespi, Hardt fee. RBC receives less but the customer doesn't pay more.

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please be sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

You will pay the cents per share transaction commission you negotiated with our firm. You will invest in the stocks of your choosing, at the quantities of your choice and will be able to clearly gage how much you will invest based on your individual purchase decision. For example, if you purchase 100 shares and have a commission rate of $.04 per share your cost is $4.00. if the stock you purchase is $10 stock, it will cost you $1,004.00.

What are your legal obligations to me when providing recommendations?

Under Regulation Best Interest (Reg BI) We act in the best interest of our customers when making recommendations. This includes a General Obligation, Disclosure Obligation, Care Obligation, and a Conflict of Interest Obligation. The broker-dealer cannot put their own financial interests ahead of the customer's when making recommendations. The firm doesn't trade in securities on our company coverage list nor do we allow our employees to do so. MCH does not currently engage in proprietary trading/principal trading, market making or investment banking. We do not receive third-party payments, nor do we share revenue with third parties other than the RBC disclosure above.. We do not sell investment products. There are no conflicts between our interests and your interests.

How do your financial professionals make money? We pay our financial professionals a fixed salary or commission. Our financial professionals are compensated based on their experience, the success of MCH and how well the firm progresses over time. These compensational factors may incentivize our financial professionals to encourage you to trade often to increase their production. MCH compliance monitors against any potential abuses. MCH does not utilize sales contests, quotas, non-cash compensation, sales specific bonuses to drive sales or direct salespeople to favor any stocks or companies.
